TREND

Utility Thrill

Work clothes can take on more than just the dirty jobs this season. Designers have softened rugged utilitarian pieces, transforming them into must-have closet staples, like the khaki dresses at Chloé that prove function and style go hand in hand.

MaxMara showcased a sophisticated collection of slouchy silk cargo pants paired with sexy satin tanks, and Marc Jacobs blurred the lines when he matched cinched-in military jackets with ruffled miniskirts. Richard Chai complemented a workman-inspired jacket with embellished shorts, while Rag & Bone contrasted its version with a crisp tuxedo shirt. Given the abundance of options this season, you'll most definitely have your work cut out for you. —Erica Blumenthal

First Class

Meet March's premier workouts, facials and more.

The yoga craze continues this month with the arrival of three new studios. Über-popular CorePower Yoga (corepoweryoga.com), which already has locations in the South Loop and the Gold Coast, opens in Lincoln Park (at the corner of Sheffield and Webster) and Oak Park (7513 Lake St.). Just blocks away from CorePower's LP location, the Chicago School of Hot Yoga (chicagoschoolofhotyoga.com) is starting to sell memberships for its May opening.

Want to channel your inner Sasha Fierce or Mikhail Baryshnikov? Try the new 60-minute, all-level BeMoved dance classes created by Sherry Zunker, co-artistic director emerita of River North Chicago Dance Company. Whether you've never danced or are a former pro, you'll get a great workout. bemoved-dance.com.

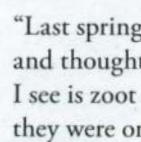

For real results from your next facial, check out celeb favorite Intracuticals Oxygen Facial at True Skin Care Center—it uses a special instrument to pump hyperbaric oxygen and antioxidants deeper into skin for a super-luminous and plump look. drdayan.com.

BURNING QUESTION

What trendy piece from last spring have you banished to the back of your closet this year?

"I only find trendy interesting if it's out of season. That is, you spent $10 on it and it doesn't need to take space in the back of your closet when the moment passes. Some $10 finds from spring '09: '80s pleated, tapered pants; subway tile; and an L.A. ex-boyfriend." —CHRISTINA PETERS, interior designer and Bisazza Chicago store manager

"Last spring I found a pair of high-waisted, wide-legged Alexander McQueen trousers in butter yellow and thought they were going to change my life. I wore them once, but now every time I look at them, all I see is zoot suit. Maybe I'll pull them back out someday but it will probably be for Halloween. At least they were on super-sale!" —ROBBIE MARTIN, director of finance at CouponCabin

"Gladiator sandals. I've completely erased them from my mind as I don't need to wear anything that looks better on Russell Crowe! My aviator sunglasses are here to stay." —MICHAEL DEL PIERO, interior designer
